Bruce Williams Memorial Award

The Fur Institute of Canada is seeking applicants for the Bruce Williams Memorial Award. Bruce Williams was a trapper and fox farmer who served as Chairman of the Fur Institute of Canada for 25 years and had a strong commitment to the future of the fur trade in Canada.

This award is open to post-secondary researchers in Canada working on research related to Canadian furbearers. Applicants are invited to submit a 1-page synthesis of their research as well as a CV and bibliography. Applications should be sent to info@fur.ca and will be reviewed by the Fur Institute of Canada Awards Committee.

Two awards of $2,500 will be available to successful applicants. Applications are open until May 18th. Presentation of the winners will be done at the Fur Institute of Canada Annual General Meeting, June 19th, 2026 in Ottawa, Ontario.
