MARTEN UPDATE FOR MARCH 2026

The recent March 6, 2026 Russian auction concluded with buyers reporting the market advancing a further 15% to 20% compared to the last Russian Sable auction of 2026. As we have advertised over the past months, levels appear to be at 2013 levels or possibly higher.

We strongly advise all trappers currently holding marten to wait until our sale concludes on March 20th before considering selling privately. The TRUE GLOBAL market price for this high-demand item will be realized at the final hammer of our sable sale. A full report will be posted immediately after each selling day closes. The sable report (March 20th) will detail a price per size average along with overall average and color breakdown which has become important as well.

After the three day auction concludes a complete detailed report will be released with a video link showing the impact created and the results that comes from an auction room filled with INTERNATIONAL buyers.
